

Transport News: Scottish Rewards

Crowne Plaza Hotel, Glasgow - November 2009

An awards ceremony with a difference...the difference being a 9am start! Sound and Vision produced a morning to celebrate the success of all those associated with Scottish transport - from haulage company of the year to a lifetime achievement award. Hosted by TV presenter Mary Rhodes, the Scottish Justice Minister Kenny MacAskill made a key speech to the audience. All of this was rounded off by spectacular entertainment by Celtic Spirit!

With a large section of our black Stealth as a central feature and backdrop to those on stage, we used this to show animated images as well as large scale logos, images and winner animations. Four 'blinder' lights were positioned just above the Stealth and used throughout the ceremony - also tying in with the Transport News truck that was shown on Stealth!

Two large side screens showed razor sharp images of the main presentation content along with live camera images of the host, guest speakers and the winners as they came onto the stage to collect their trophy.

A large LED star cloth was the backdrop to the entire set with powerful and rich colour lighting effects throughout the venue room to complete the impressive and contemporary design and atmosphere.

"Just wanted to place on record my thanks for all your support and help with our event... we look forward to working with you during 2010."
